

RESPECTFUL WORKPLACES POLICY

Respectful workplaces don't just happen, they are built through the values we hold and the way we behave towards each other every day.

The Department is committed to safe, inclusive and respectful workplaces, where staff are valued and feel supported to speak up.

The Department's Respectful Workplaces program aims to create lasting behaviour change by increasing staff awareness, understanding, capability and confidence in building and maintaining respectful workplaces.

The program brings together and focuses on the Department's Values and Code of Conduct, diversity and inclusion, equal opportunity, human rights, and workplace bullying.

OUR RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

We all have a right to a workplace free from bullying, harassment and discrimination. We also have a responsibility to ensure that our own behaviour contributes to a respectful work environment for everyone.

To build and maintain a respectful workplace, staff are responsible for always:

- treating each other with respect and consideration
- being inclusive, valuing others and accepting their differences
- recognising the efforts and achievements of others
- considering our impact on others
- calling out and addressing behaviour that can lead to bullying, harassment and discrimination

In addition, managers or principals are responsible for setting clear expectations of respectful behaviour and responding to ideas, concerns, complaints and feedback with empathy, fairness, dignity and respect.

REPORTING AND ADVICE

For more information about reporting and advice, refer to the Related topics section in the Overview tab.

INTERNAL SUPPORT

You can seek support at any time, including during or following an internal complaints process.

Workplace Contact Officers (WCOs) are a good point of contact for staff who experience, or would like information about, harassment, discrimination, bullying, victimisation or family violence. The WCO network is a group of Department staff who have volunteered and been trained to provide colleagues with information and guidance about Departmental policies, processes and principles, and advice about who is best to talk to in a particular situation.

Employees can contact any WCO in the network for a confidential discussion.

EXTERNAL SUPPORT

Employees can access free and confidential counselling sessions through the Employee Assistance Program (EAP). The EAP is available 24/7 for employees to discuss personal or work-related issues. A dedicated Manager Assist telephone advisory service is also available to provide support and coaching to managers. Both services can be contacted on 1300 361 008.

For more information about EAP, refer to the Related topics section in the Overview tab.
